

Increasing the dissemination size on HY trace will have a negative impact on mutual fund and pension fund returns. Those institutions greatly depend on the dealer community to help them buy and sell securities. If the dissemination size is increased to reflect more risk changing hands, the dealer community will not facilitate the investment management community to the current degree, and returns will suffer for it.