

The US Gov't must immediately cease this unnecessary intrusion and collection of taxpayer financial information.

The CARD program offers no visible rationale as to why this enforcement is required or necessary and offers nothing but risk to the taxpayers that their data / information can or would be used in a discriminatory fashion.

The most recent exposure about how the Obamacare architects, in October 2013, considered the US taxpayer too stupid for their own good and elected to lie to get the bill passed demonstrates the perspective of excessive government power and regulation.

If enforcement of the CARD program is to continue, will Lois Lehrner be coming out of retirement and running it?
