1. Text of Proposed Rule Change

(a) Pursuant to the provisions of Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (“Act”),¹ Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (“FINRA”) (f/k/a National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (“NASD”)) is filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC” or “Commission”) a proposed rule change to repeal NASD Rule 2450 (Installment or Partial Sales), NASD Interpretive Material 2830-2 (“IM-2830-2”) (Maintaining the Public Offering Price), and Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 (Uniform Forms) as part of the process of developing a consolidated FINRA rulebook.

The text of the proposed rule change is attached as Exhibit 5 to this rule filing.

(b) Not applicable.

(c) Not applicable.

2. Procedures of the Self-Regulatory Organization

At its meeting on February 11, 2009, the FINRA Board of Governors authorized the filing of the proposed rule change with the SEC. No other action by FINRA is necessary for the filing of the proposed rule change.

FINRA will announce the implementation date of the proposed rule change in a Regulatory Notice to be published no later than 90 days following Commission approval. The implementation date will be no later than 180 days following Commission approval.

3. Self-Regulatory Organization’s Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

(a) Purpose

As part of the process of developing a new consolidated rulebook (“Consolidated FINRA Rulebook”),² FINRA is proposing to repeal NASD Rule 2450 (Installment or Partial Sales), NASD IM-2830-2 (Maintaining the Public Offering Price), and Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 (Uniform Forms) to eliminate duplicative and unnecessary rules and remove outdated provisions from the Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

NASD Rule 2450 (Installment or Partial Sales)

NASD Rule 2450 prohibits any arrangement whereby the customer of a member submits partial or installment payments for the purchase of a security with the following exceptions: (1) if a member is acting as agent or broker in such transaction, then the member must immediately make an actual purchase of the security for the account of the customer, and immediately take possession or control of the security and maintain possession or control of the security as long as the member is under the obligation to deliver the security to the customer; (2) if a member is acting as principal in such transaction, the member must, at the time of the transaction, own such security and maintain possession or control of the security as long as the member is under the obligation to deliver the security to the customer; and (3) where the provisions of Regulation T,³ if applicable to the member, are satisfied.

The rule also prohibits the member, whether acting as principal or agent, in connection with any installment or partial sales transaction, from making any agreement with the customer whereby the member would be allowed to pledge or hypothecate any security involved in such transaction for any amount in excess of the indebtedness of the customer to such member.

Section 220.8 of Regulation T permits the purchase of a security in the cash account predicated on either (1) there being sufficient funds in the account; or (2) the member accepting in good faith the customer's agreement that full cash payment will be made.⁴ The rule further stipulates that payment must be made within a specified payment period.⁵ Regulation T also allows the purchase of a security in a margin account, whereby a customer must deposit an initial requirement, based upon the amount of the transaction, within the specified payment period.

FINRA proposes to repeal NASD Rule 2450 in light of the explicit provisions in Regulation T requiring the deposit of sufficient funds within the specified payment period. FINRA also believes the hypothecation prohibition in NASD Rule 2450 would no longer be relevant because it is predicated on a partial or installment payment under the rule.

⁴ See Regulation T 220.8(a)(1).

⁵ According to Section 220.2 of Regulation T, payment period "means the number of business days in the standard securities settlement cycle in the United States, as defined in paragraph (a) of SEC Rule 15c6-1 (17 CFR 240.15c6-1(a)), plus two business days."

NASD IM-2830-2 (Maintaining the Public Offering Price)

Section 22(d) of the Investment Company Act generally prohibits a registered investment company, its principal underwriter, or a dealer from selling the fund's shares at a price other than the current public offering price described in the prospectus. As a general matter, this means that a broker-dealer must sell shares of a mutual fund to investors at the fund's current net asset value, plus any applicable sales load. Section 22(d) excepts from this prohibition sales to the fund itself, the fund's principal underwriter or another dealer.

In the 1950s, FINRA adopted an interpretation of Section 22(d) and NASD Rule 2420,⁶ now codified as NASD IM-2830-2, that requires members to sell mutual funds at the public offering price not only to investors, but also to any non-member broker or dealer. NASD IM-2830-2 provides examples of transactions that would violate this prohibition. At the time NASD IM-2830-2 was adopted, some broker-dealers doing business with the public were not NASD members. Accordingly, it was possible for member firms to sell shares of mutual funds to non-member broker-dealers at a price below the current public offering price because of the exception in Section 22(d) for sales to other dealers. However, these kinds of transactions were inconsistent with the requirement under NASD Rule 2420 that transactions with non-member firms be on the same terms as transactions with the public.

Since the adoption of NASD IM-2830-2, the laws governing broker-dealers have changed, and today virtually all broker-dealers doing business with the public are FINRA members. In addition, NASD IM-2830-2 largely duplicates the requirement in Section 22(d) to sell mutual fund shares to investors at the current public offering price. As a result, FINRA believes NASD IM-2830-2 no longer serves any useful purpose, and proposes not to incorporate its content into the Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

Incorporated NYSE Rule 413

Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 requires members to adopt such uniform forms as the NYSE may prescribe to facilitate the orderly flow of transactions within the financial community. This provision was adopted in 1973 to apply to forms generally, including membership forms.

The FINRA By-Laws contain several provisions by which FINRA may prescribe processes for members' activities, including the use of uniform forms.⁷

⁷ See, e.g., the following provisions of the FINRA By-Laws: Article IV, Section 1 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for application for FINRA membership); Article IV, Section 8 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for members to advise FINRA regarding branch offices, including the opening, closing, relocation, change in designated supervisor, or change in designated activities of any branch office); Article V, Section 2 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for application for registration by registered representatives and associated persons); and Article V, Section 3 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for members' notification of termination of registered persons). In addition, FINRA has issued for comment proposed FINRA Rule 4540 governing information and data reporting and filing requirements. See Regulatory Notice 09-02 (January 2009) (FINRA Requests Comment on Proposed Consolidated FINRA Rule Governing Information and Data Reporting and Filing Requirements).

Accordingly, FINRA proposes to repeal Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 in light of these provisions.

As noted in Item 2 of this filing, FINRA will announce the implementation date of the proposed rule change in a Regulatory Notice to be published no later than 90 days following Commission approval.

(b) Statutory Basis

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,⁸ which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules must be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. FINRA believes that the proposed rule change will further these requirements by eliminating duplicative and unnecessary rules and advancing the development of a more efficient and effective Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

4. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

5. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

6. Extension of Time Period for Commission Action

FINRA does not consent at this time to an extension of the time period for Commission action specified in Section 19(b)(2) of the Act.⁹

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, FINRA included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. FINRA has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

As part of the process of developing a new consolidated rulebook ("Consolidated FINRA Rulebook"),³ FINRA is proposing to repeal NASD Rule 2450 (Installment or Partial Sales), NASD IM-2830-2 (Maintaining the Public Offering Price), and Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 (Uniform Forms) to eliminate duplicative and unnecessary rules and remove outdated provisions from the Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

NASD Rule 2450 (Installment or Partial Sales)

NASD Rule 2450 prohibits any arrangement whereby the customer of a member submits partial or installment payments for the purchase of a security with the following exceptions: (1) if a member is acting as agent or broker in such transaction, then the

³ The current FINRA rulebook consists of (1) FINRA Rules; (2) NASD Rules; and (3) rules incorporated from NYSE ("Incorporated NYSE Rules") (together, the NASD Rules and Incorporated NYSE Rules are referred to as the "Transitional Rulebook"). While the NASD Rules generally apply to all FINRA members, the Incorporated NYSE Rules apply only to those members of FINRA that are also members of the NYSE ("Dual Members"). The FINRA Rules apply to all FINRA members, unless such rules have a more limited application by their terms. For more information about the rulebook consolidation process, see Information Notice, March 12, 2008 (Rulebook Consolidation Process).

member must immediately make an actual purchase of the security for the account of the customer, and immediately take possession or control of the security and maintain possession or control of the security as long as the member is under the obligation to deliver the security to the customer; (2) if a member is acting as principal in such transaction, the member must, at the time of the transaction, own such security and maintain possession or control of the security as long as the member is under the obligation to deliver the security to the customer; and (3) where the provisions of Regulation T,⁴ if applicable to the member, are satisfied.

The rule also prohibits the member, whether acting as principal or agent, in connection with any installment or partial sales transaction, from making any agreement with the customer whereby the member would be allowed to pledge or hypothecate any security involved in such transaction for any amount in excess of the indebtedness of the customer to such member.

Section 220.8 of Regulation T permits the purchase of a security in the cash account predicated on either (1) there being sufficient funds in the account; or (2) the member accepting in good faith the customer's agreement that full cash payment will be made.⁵ The rule further stipulates that payment must be made within a specified payment period.⁶ Regulation T also allows the purchase of a security in a margin account, ⁴ Federal Reserve Board, Regulation T (Credit by Brokers and Dealers), 12 CFR 220 et seq.

⁵ See Regulation T 220.8(a)(1).

⁶ According to Section 220.2 of Regulation T, payment period “means the number of business days in the standard securities settlement cycle in the United States, as defined in paragraph (a) of SEC Rule 15c6-1 (17 CFR 240.15c6-1(a)), plus two business days.”

whereby a customer must deposit an initial requirement, based upon the amount of the transaction, within the specified payment period.

FINRA proposes to repeal NASD Rule 2450 in light of the explicit provisions in Regulation T requiring the deposit of sufficient funds within the specified payment period. FINRA also believes the hypothecation prohibition in NASD Rule 2450 would no longer be relevant because it is predicated on a partial or installment payment under the rule.

NASD IM-2830-2 (Maintaining the Public Offering Price)

Section 22(d) of the Investment Company Act generally prohibits a registered investment company, its principal underwriter, or a dealer from selling the fund's shares at a price other than the current public offering price described in the prospectus. As a general matter, this means that a broker-dealer must sell shares of a mutual fund to investors at the fund's current net asset value, plus any applicable sales load. Section 22(d) excepts from this prohibition sales to the fund itself, the fund's principal underwriter or another dealer.

In the 1950s, FINRA adopted an interpretation of Section 22(d) and NASD Rule 2420,⁷ now codified as NASD IM-2830-2, that requires members to sell mutual funds at the public offering price not only to investors, but also to any non-member broker or dealer. NASD IM-2830-2 provides examples of transactions that would violate this prohibition. At the time NASD IM-2830-2 was adopted, some broker-dealers doing business with the public were not NASD members. Accordingly, it was possible for member firms to sell shares of mutual funds to non-member broker-dealers at a price below the current public offering price because of the exception in Section 22(d) for sales to other dealers. However, these kinds of transactions were inconsistent with the requirement under NASD Rule 2420 that transactions with non-member firms be on the same terms as transactions with the public.

Since the adoption of NASD IM-2830-2, the laws governing broker-dealers have changed, and today virtually all broker-dealers doing business with the public are FINRA members. In addition, NASD IM-2830-2 largely duplicates the requirement in Section 22(d) to sell mutual fund shares to investors at the current public offering price. As a result, FINRA believes NASD IM-2830-2 no longer serves any useful purpose, and proposes not to incorporate its content into the Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

Incorporated NYSE Rule 413

Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 requires members to adopt such uniform forms as the NYSE may prescribe to facilitate the orderly flow of transactions within the financial community. This provision was adopted in 1973 to apply to forms generally, including membership forms.

The FINRA By-Laws contain several provisions by which FINRA may prescribe processes for members' activities, including the use of uniform forms.⁸

⁸ See, e.g., the following provisions of the FINRA By-Laws: Article IV, Section 1 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for application for FINRA membership); Article IV, Section 8 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for members to advise FINRA regarding branch offices, including the opening, closing, relocation, change in designated supervisor, or change in designated activities of any branch office); Article V, Section 2 (providing that FINRA may prescribe the process for application for registration by registered

Accordingly, FINRA proposes to repeal Incorporated NYSE Rule 413 in light of these provisions.

FINRA will announce the implementation date of the proposed rule change in a Regulatory Notice to be published no later than 90 days following Commission approval. The implementation date will be no later than 180 days following Commission approval.

2. Statutory Basis

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,⁹ which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules must be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest. FINRA believes that the proposed rule change will further these requirements by eliminating duplicative and unnecessary rules and advancing the development of a more efficient and effective Consolidated FINRA Rulebook.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:
