

I would like to know if FINRA is trying to maximize leverage in Forex from 1.5 to 1 as opposed to the current 100 to 1 and higher?

I would just like to express my feelings about this. This would restrict people who normally can not invest a large amount of money to not invest at all. Leverage is mislead by brokers, you should not try to restrict it, maybe put regulation on how leverage is presented so the trader is full aware of what leverage is and let the trader decide.

I will also be writing a formal letter to congress to block this!
