FINRA Reminds Firms of Exercise Cut-Off Time for Options Expiring on the Friday After Thanksgiving

Summary

The national options exchanges are closing at 1:00 p.m. Eastern Time (ET) on Friday, November 24, 2023 (the Friday after Thanksgiving), which will modify the exercise cut-off time for expiring options. FINRA reminds firms that, pursuant to FINRA Rule 2360(b)(23)(A)(viii), if a national options exchange or The Options Clearing Corporation announces a modified time for the close of trading in standardized equity options, then the deadline for an option holder to make a final decision to exercise or not exercise an expiring option will be 1 hour 30 minutes following the time announced for the close of trading on that day, instead of the 5:30 p.m. ET deadline. Accordingly, option holders must make a final decision to exercise or not exercise options expiring on November 24, 2023, by 2:30 p.m. ET.¹

FINRA reminds members that special procedures apply to the exercise of expiring standardized equity options.² Generally, expiring standardized equity options that are in-the-money will be automatically exercised.³ For call option positions, the cost associated with any exercise will be due at that time. Option holders who want to exercise or not exercise expiring standardized equity options must either: (1) take no action and allow exercise determinations to be applied; or (2) submit a "Contrary Exercise Advice." A "Contrary Exercise Advice" allows an option holder to (1) not exercise an option position that would automatically be exercised; or (2) exercise a standardized equity option position that would not automatically be exercised. A Contrary Exercise Advice may be canceled by filing an "Advice Cancel."
