My name is Mr. D. Kraft. My public comment will be brief. I have been investing in the US Stock Market for 35 years. In the last 6 months I have had my eyes opened more than the entire three decades before, to the massive level of criminal behavior that exists on Wall Street. A corrupt partnership exists between Big Finance, their Spin Doctor Propagandists in the Media, and selected friendly government officials... It is systemic, shocking, and reprehensible. Every decent person should be sick to their stomach at this level of corruption.

The short squeeze saga of Gamestop and AMC has shone the light of truth on the widespread abuses that are clearly a common and accepted practice in the financial markets. With a wink and a nod, a 10% fine for the big guy, and the crime spree just continues. Dark Pool Abuses, Wash sales/short ladder attacks, PFOF, extreme naked shorting to destroy jobs and businesses - it is all just another day on Wall Street, isn't it?

It is time to make an immediate decision: Either clean up this mess and get your house in order, or continue to rape and pillage the world. You have a choice - either be a criminal or a crimefighter... What will you choose? Think quickly and carefully, because this problem is not going away, and new levels of consequences are coming, one way or another. They won't be just fines anymore. The retail investor is no longer ignorant to these felonies, and the outrage is building.

What side of history will you be on? Nothing Can Stop This Storm.
