Hi FINRA!

I believe the proposed changes described in the Regulation Notice are fantastic ideas and should pass as regulation. I believe the most important parts of the enhancements being proposed is listed under B and C.

B is a great idea because it allows Investors and R.I's a more clear view of the field when the overall value of the security is caught in a short squeeze. With the given knowledge we can establish a how many shares are there left rather than a Increase in the short interest. Of course this information has no use when we can't see the impact on a daily basis. This is where Change listed Under C validates information to give more accuracy in a shorter term.

Another one I'd like to shed light to is reporting Threshold Security position. I believe this should pass into regulation as-well.

Thank you!
