I own amc on the NYSE and have been watching unfathomable mis use of the darkpool occur, millions of FTDs, amc being on the threshold list since June 25, yet continually watch short attacks on the stock all day long. Once on a threshold list, no further shorts should be able to occur, and darkpool should be suspended. Please look at the volume that is traded in darkpool, why are our buy orders being routed into the darkpool instead of the market as a buy? Why can this continue to occur day after day? This needs to be addressed immediately

Thank you for your time
