How can the world have any faith in our system if a market maker is allowed to delay order flow and manipulate the laws of supply and demand? Funneling retail orders through dark pools and their own sell orders on the open market? How many months will this be allowed to continue. After this AMC. situation resolves generations of investors may never place their money in the markets ever again. This will be the collapse of America.

My uncle, extended family members, some who used to work in the industry are all besides themselves. There are investors all around the world who feel the same. Citadel needs to be made an example of. Not Robinhood, just the fledgling startup that can and will probably be easily replaced with another scapegoat.

| Date | Short percentage | Dark Pool percentage |
