Further re NASD CRD changes

Dear Ms Sweeney:

This is a small point, and I hope will be considered in tandem with the CRD changes you propose. When you find something of a disciplinary nature and seek to actually read the relevant portions of that decision in the Notice To Members it is very difficult on line. For the printed notice you use a two column arrangement however, I suggest that when most users are reading it on line this printing device is an anachronism. It would be much easier to read the Notices if they were printed on a standard paper in the traditional format rather than in the two column configuration you have used probably since the initial notices.

I realize it is a small point, but any help you can give to us on line to make the notices easier to read would be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Raymond H. Gambel
