

Dear Sirs:

Not only do I support the full disclosure of the brokerage firms' objective to get the most in fees from clients, don't most customers believe the opposite? Don't they believe the advertising that says that brokers are professionals, who want long-term relationships with "clients"?

It is about time that brokerage customers knew the truth.

Yours truly, Paul Scheurer