

FINRA,

I believe including test scores in Broker Check is a bad idea.

For me, in 1986 I passed the Series 7 under the pass fail system. To date I have no idea what my test score was. Further, if I was studying for a high score I would have studied differently than I did in studying to pass.

If these rules must somehow be enacted, perhaps a grandfather clause would be appropriate.

David S. Eckess
Little Rock, AR