CASE SUMMARY

The Claimants alleged that they each had very limited investment sophistication, particularly very limited experience in investing in "penny stocks". Claimants stated that their investment objective at all times was safety of principal with preservation of capital. Specifically, Claimants alleged that Theodore Briedbart ("Briedbart") created a scheme whereby Briedbart would divert Claimants funds; that Briedbart acted as an agent and a liaison for Respondent Craig Medoff ("Medoff"); and that at all times, Briedbart and Medoff acted in bad faith and with total disregard for the Claimants. It was also alleged by the Claimants that the Respondents allegedly falsified information and forged the signature on Claimants' new account forms.

Further, Claimants alleged that Briedbart and Medoff continually and constantly misrepresented facts concerning their positions with Shamrock Partners ("Shamrock"); that Respondent Briedbart acted as an agent on behalf of Respondent Medoff to perpetrate distortions, misrepresentations, fabrications, and falsehoods with respect to the investments in a penny stock known as Regency International, Inc. ("Regency"); and that Claimants purchased Regency as a result of Respondent Medoff's guarantee that Claimants would more than double their investments within 90 - 120 days. Claimants also alleged that Respondent Huard was responsible for overseeing the activities of Medoff, McGowan and Briedbart and failed to diligently supervise these individuals, thereby permitting them to engage in fraudulent, illegal and harmful trading practices alleged herein.

Moreover, Claimants alleged that all Respondents misrepresented the inherent risks associated with the investment, and/or failed to disclose such risks when they knew or should have known that Claimants would, and did, rely on the misrepresentations and omissions in connection with any decision that they did make to purchase the Regency investment. Claimants alleged that the Respondents are jointly and severally liable to the Claimants under the legal theories of fraud, unsuitability, breach of fiduciary duty and negligence.

Respondents Shamrock and Huard denied all allegations of wrongdoing asserted against them in Claimants' Statements of Claim. Respondents Shamrock and Huard maintained that the claims filed against the Respondents were filed by investors who purchased the stock of Regency International, Inc. through Craig Medoff, a registered broker operating a franchise office under the name of Shamrock solely for the purpose of clearing trades. Respondents Shamrock and Huard further maintained that Medoff was at no time an employee of Shamrock, but acted as an independent contractor who rented his own office and paid all of his operating expenses out of his own business; that Medoff had his own customers and generated his own orders, which were then submitted to Shamrock who would review them and then pass them along to Kemper for clearance; and that neither Shamrock nor Huard had any contact with any of the Claimants prior to the receipt of the Medoff generated orders.

Respondents Shamrock and Huard denied that they falsified information on new account forms as to income or net income; admitted that Shamrock acted as an introducing broker for Claimants; and admitted that Huard is Executive Vice President of Shamrock. These Respondents asserted that they fully performed their limited role as an introducing broker in executing and effecting trades in the Claimants' accounts, in connection with which it had no direct contact with any Claimant regarding his or her investment decisions to purchase Regency stock. Further, Respondents Shamrock and Huard asserted that since Shamrock was not the principal or employer of Medoff, McGowan or Briedbart and clearly disclosed to each Claimant its limited role as a clearing broker, it cannot be held liable on the theory of respondeat superior and since Respondents Shamrock and Huard had no knowledge of the alleged wrongful conduct of Medoff, McGowan and/or Briedbart and provided substantial assistance in perpetrating that wrong, they cannot be held liable as an aider and abettor.

Respondent Brian McGowan denied all allegations asserted against him in the claims filed by the Claimants. Respondent McGowan maintained that Shamrock filed his registration application on March 17, 1992. The vast majority, if not all, of the trading in Regency took place prior to this date. Respondent further maintained that prior to that date he worked part-time in an administrative capacity on a consulting basis; that his work consisted of answering the phone, opening the mail, sending Fed Exes, paying bills and reconciling the checkbook; and that his role never was to solicit any investments or any securities transactions from any of the Claimants. Respondent McGowan also maintained that each of the Claimants was aware of the fact that he never solicited a purchase or sale of a security from them, never gave any investment advice nor made any investment recommendations to them, and, therefore, requested that the claims be dismissed as to allegations relating to him.

Respondent Craig Medoff generally denied each and every allegation in the Statement of Claim of each Claimant.

As affirmative defenses, Respondent Medoff asserted that the Claimants failed to timely object to investments and ratified the transactions in their accounts; that Claimants failed to mitigate their damages; that losses sustained were the result of nationwide economic events beyond Respondent Medoff's control; and that Claimants' claims are barred by the doctrines of estoppel, waiver and laches.

Further, Respondent Medoff maintained that any damages suffered by the Claimants resulted from the acts or omissions of certain third parties for whose conduct Respondent Medoff is not responsible; that Claimants failed to state a cause of action upon which relief could be granted; and that Claimants claims are barred completely, or in part, because the damages claimed to have been sustained by the Claimants were caused solely, or contributed to, by claimants own negligent and willful conduct.

Respondent Kemper Securities, Inc. maintained that it had no knowledge or information on which to form a belief as to the truth or untruth of the allegations of wrongdoing attributed to the other Respondents, and therefore denied all such allegations. With respect to the claims asserted against Kemper, Kemper admits that it acted as the clearing broker and issued confirmations and statements to the Claimants, but denies any and all other allegations and assertions upon which the Claimants attempt to hold Kemper liable for the alleged actions of the Shamrock respondents or Briedbart. Kemper maintained that it fully performed its limited role as a clearing broker in executing and effecting trades in the Claimants' accounts, in connection with which it had no direct contact with any Claimant regarding his or her investment decisions to purchase Regency stock. Further, Kemper maintained that since Kemper was not the principal or employer of the Shamrock Respondents or Briedbart and clearly disclosed to each Claimant its limited role as clearing broker, it cannot be held liable on the theory of Respondeat Superior and since the Claimants have not alleged wrongful conduct of the Shamrock Respondents and/or Briedbart and provided substantial assistance in perpetrating that wrong, it cannot be held liable as an aider and abettor.

Kemper submitted its Counterclaim against Claimants Ferstl, Kleban, Kaemlein, Frank and Matza, alleging that in executing the Customer Agreement, these Claimants acknowledged and agreed that Kemper shall not be responsible to them for any loss resulting from the conduct on the part of any third party, including, without limitation, Shamrock, which introduced the accounts of these Claimants to Kemper and, further agreed to indemnify and hold Kemper harmless from and against all losses liabilities and damages, including attorneys fees, incurred by Kemper as a result of any actions taken or not taken by the brokers of these Claimants.

As and for its Cross-Claim against Shamrock Partners, Inc., Kemper submitted that pursuant to Article VI of the Clearing Agreement between Shamrock and Kemper, Shamrock agreed to indemnify and hold Kemper harmless from and against all claims, demands, proceedings, suits and actions together with all liabilities, losses, expenses and costs resulting therefrom in connection with any account introduced account arising out of the Clearing Agreement.

At the hearing, proof was presented as to the actual damages allegedly sustained by the Claimants. Claimants requested that any award in Claimants' favor be rendered pursuant to the damage calculations as presented at the hearing.

Respondents Shamrock and Huard requested that the arbitrators dismiss each of the Statements of Claim on the merits and with prejudice, and assess all Claimants the costs of this proceeding, including all filing and forum fees as well as all attorneys fees incurred by Shamrock and Huard as a result of the defense of this proceeding.

Respondent Brian McGowan requested that each claim asserted against him be dismissed.

Respondent Craig Medoff requested a denial of all of the claims asserted by the Claimants in their Statement of Claim.

On the basis of Kemper's Statement of Answer and Counterclaim, Kemper requested that the arbitrators dismiss the Statement of Claim on the merits and with prejudice, enforce Kemper's contractual right to indemnification against Ferstl, Kleban, Kaemmlin, Frank and Matza and assess all Claimants the costs of this proceedings, including all filing and forum fees as well as all attorneys fees incurred by Kemper as a result of the defense of this proceeding. On the basis of Kemper's Cross-Claim, Kemper requested that the arbitrators enforce Kemper's contractual right of indemnification against Shamrock.

OTHER ISSUES CONSIDERED & DECIDED

At the hearing, Claimants' counsel, Andrew Schultz, Esq., advised the panel that Claimants had entered into settlement agreements with Shamrock Partners, Ltd., Joseph Huard, Kemper Securities, Inc., and Brian McGowan. Additionally, all claims as to Theodore Briedbart were stayed by Court Order of the Supreme Court, New York County. Claimants' advised the panel that they wished to proceed against the sole remaining respondent, Craig Medoff.

The arbitration panel made the following rulings as to Respondent Medoff who filed an answer in this arbitration, but failed to file or present a properly executed Submission of the dispute to NASD Arbitration (i.e. Submission Agreement) and failed to appear at the three (3) New York Evidentiary hearings conducted in this matter without obtaining any adjournment/ postponement thereof:

- (1) Pursuant to Section 1 of the NASD Code of Arbitration Procedure ("Code") the panel found subject matter jurisdiction over this entire controversy and specifically as it related to Medoff.
- (2) The panel found that Medoff was a person associated with an NASD member namely, Shamrock Partners, Ltd. at the time this controversy arose. Consequently, the panel found personal jurisdiction over Medoff pursuant to Section 12 (a) of the Code. Additionally, Medoff executed a Form U-4 requiring him to arbitrate at this forum upon demand of the Customer Claimants.

- (3) In view of (2) above, Medoff was required to execute and file with the NASD a submission agreement pursuant to Section 25(b) of the Code. In this regard the panel found that the NASD properly served the Claimants' claims upon Medoff pursuant to Section 25 (a) of the Code.
- (4) Finally, the panel found that the NASD, pursuant to Sections 21, 26 and 29 of the Code, provided Medoff with "due notice" of all hearings conducted in this matter by regular and certified mail. The panel, therefore, determined to proceed with these hearings without Medoff whose absence was, as stated previously, unexcused.
